

Tradition... Tradition!

Name _____

Sometimes, people join groups. Each group, such as a family, a scout troop, or a church has its own "identity," which means that the members of the group may all do the same activities or believe in the same things. Groups with different identities can learn from each other.

Traditions are the ways that groups celebrate, week after week or year after year. Our families and our churches have many traditions that help us express what we believe. They help us learn who we are.

Draw candles on a cake for you. What celebration does it show?

Decorate this tree. What celebration does it show?

Draw a turkey dinner. What celebration is this?

Color this Holy Water font. Where is it found?

What do candles tell about you?

Who celebrates this holiday?

Who uses Holy Water?