

Peace Poem

Name _____

Matthew 5:9

God wants all of creation to live together in peace, and God is the source of that peace. Only through the love of God and our love of God's creation can we find that peace.

Here are directions for how to write a poem, called a cinquain, about God's peace. For additional ideas, read Psalm 29:11, Psalm 133, and I Corinthians 13.

The first line is written for you. It is one word:
Love (the source of peace).

On line two, write two words that describe love to you (patient, gentle, kind, never ending).

On line three, write three words that tell something about what love does (forgives, blesses, cares for others, lasts forever).

On line four, write four words that tell how you feel about love and peace (happy, not afraid, peaceful).

On line five, write one word that could also mean love (peace).
