Caring for God's Children

Father John Bosco spent all of his grown-up life taking care of homeless boys. He and his mother opened a home for them and lived there with them. He cared for them with lots of love and encouragement. He paid for all their needs by preaching, writing, and collecting donations. He recruited others to help him. They became known as the Society of St. Francis de Sales (the Salesians). He also started an Order of sisters to take care of poor and neglected girls. He was especially interested in teaching young people how they could earn a living. Solve the acrostic to discover what John Bosco is called.
