

St. Philip Neri (1515-1595)

Humorous and Humble

Philip Neri was a saint with a sense of humor. He liked to laugh and to joke—something others in the Church didn't always understand. (He once appeared wearing his clothes inside out!) But he won just about everyone over because he was so humble and charming and cared so much about doing good for the love of God. He did important and serious things, like building a hospital and feeding pilgrims, while showing that being a servant of the Lord could be a happy occupation.

St. Philip would have liked these riddles. See if you can solve them.
