CHRIST THE KING

Reflections from our Pastoral Associate

This weekend we celebrate the Solemnity of Our Lord Jesus Christ, King of the Universe. Since 1925, when Pope Pius XI instituted this Feast, the Church has made a strong statement time and again as we close our liturgical year. The message, in the midst of decades of change, remains simple: “Our King is Christ. His Kingship is different from all those before and to come. It is unlike anything with which we are otherwise familiar. Jesus Christ rules, not with political power or military might. He rules as one of us.”

To proclaim Christ king over all is one thing. To proclaim him as our king—or rather, for each of us to profess him as king over our individual lives—is yet another. Personal ownership of Christ’s kingship is to place the precious daily moments of our lives at his feet. For most of us this proves considerably more challenging than mounting a public outcry over the condition of society as a whole.

In order to truly embrace surrender to Christ as one’s King, there are difficult questions that we have to ask ourselves. The answers are seldom comfortable, and are not often easy to face. Today, as we remember who it is that is King of our very lives, we must ask ourselves: Is Christ the King of my life? If yes, do I surrender to his standard of living out his Kingship? How do I feel about my obligation to the least in our society? What am I doing to help meet the needs of the hungry and thirsty, the foreigner, those who are ill or in prison? Or am I among those who out of selfish interests frustrate all attempts to ensure that the needs of these most important people in Christ’s kingdom are met?

The extent to which we are able to ask and seek genuine answers to these questions is the extent to which we confess Christ is King. It is Jesus’ great love for us that defines his rule and so it must be what defines his subjects—us.

To be Christian means to have Jesus as our King. To have Jesus as King means to live according to the principles of his Kingship. To live according to the principles of Jesus’ Kingship means to help spread his love. We do this by our words and our actions, in our homes and places of work, before our friends and members of our family, and especially before those who are of special interest to Jesus during his earthly ministry: the poor, the weak, the widow, the orphan and the stranger. Or, to use the language of Jesus himself in the Gospels, to care for the least of our brothers and sisters.

The timing of this feast is itself fortunate. Time flows from this feast on the last Sunday of this liturgical year through the secular Thanksgiving feast and on to the First Sunday of Advent, the beginning of the next liturgical year, when we begin our preparation for the great Nativity of Our Savior. Thanksgiving is made even fuller in meaning for Christians. We are invited by grace to come to receive the gift of Jesus’ death for us on the cross for what it is and then to give back to our King through living our lives in Christ for the sake of the world.

“I am the Alpha and the Omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end,” says the Lord. (Revelation 22:13) As we move from one Church year to the next, we also move along in the timeline of human life allotted to each one of us. The certainty of our own death is meant to illuminate our life and its purpose and culmination in Christ. On this great Feast as we consider the timeline of God’s unfolding plan, we are invited to re-dedicate ourselves to living differently. We are to live as though time really does matter. We are invited by grace to give ourselves away for others, to imitate the One who gave Himself for the entire human race. We are invited to pour ourselves out as Jesus did. If we live life this way, when we face Him on that final day, we will do so with our arms full of gifts borne in time. These gifts will have paved the way for eternity.

Let us walk through this last week of the year and join with those whom we love around the table of Thanksgiving. When we give thanks, let us express gratitude to whom it belongs. As we indulge ourselves in abundance—of food, of joy, of love—let us call to mind those whom Jesus loves above all others, those who go without. In acknowledging Jesus as our King, let us open ourselves to the gift of the Mass which God has given us as a way to celebrate thanksgiving over and over again. The word “eucharist” means thanksgiving and each time we enter into the great prayer of the Mass we enter into the Kingship of Jesus as he poured himself out for our sake.

In these ways: asking of ourselves where we have room in our lives to live as true subjects of our loving, selfless King, stretching ourselves to better engage with our sisters and brothers who want or are strangers, to gather more enthusiastically and more often at the Thanksgiving table of our Lord, we more fully celebrate Jesus as King. Then, opened, stretched, and humbled, let us walk the way of faith into the new Liturgical season, Advent, getting ourselves and the world of our own time ready for the coming of Christ the King.

All Praise be to Christ the King. Amen.

Pastoral Ministry

Advent Speaker Series

During Advent, we look to Mary as our model of faith and trust in God's plan for His beloved people. St. Peter's welcomes acclaimed speaker and author, Elizabeth Kelly, who will join Fr. Steven to present a series of talks focused on how the mysteries of Advent touch our lives for the purpose of awakening, fostering, and strengthening our hope. All are welcome. Light refreshments will be available following each evening's talk. For further information, please contact Lisa Amos at 651-905-4304 or lamos@stpetersmendota.org. Wednesdays, December 2-16, 6:30-7:30 p.m., Heritage Center.

December 2: No One Knows You Like Your Mother: Living with the Blessed Mother in Daily Life. What does Mary mean to you? What do you mean to her? This evening we will spend time reflecting on our relationship to the Blessed Mother and meaningful, practical ways to strengthen it.

December 9: Be it Done Unto Me: What Mary and the Annunciation Teach us about a Receptive Heart. Cultivating a heart that is willing and ready to receive the graces of heaven can be a difficult task. Do you find yourself too focused on giving gifts and forget to receive them sometimes? The Annunciation is one of heaven's perfect examples of receptivity. Tonight we will enter into that sacred moment that changed all of human history and ask the Blessed Mother to show us how to become more receptive to Jesus.

December 16: Mary, Model of Hope. Fr. Steven explores how, with prayer, in hope, and with Mary as our model of faith, we can draw ever closer to God through Jesus Christ in special ways this season.

Boy Scout Christmas Wreaths and Swags

Saint Peter's-sponsored Boy Scout Troop 264, will be selling beautiful, fragrant Christmas wreaths and swags after the 5 p.m. Mass on Saturday, December 5, and after both the 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. Masses on Sunday, December 6, while supplies last. This annual fundraiser helps the troop update necessary supplies, and helps our boys pay for camping activities. Thank you to the entire Saint Peter's community for supporting our Troop!

OUR LADY OF ADVENT:

Mother of Hope: An Advent Series

During Advent, we look to Mary as our model of faith and trust in God's plan for His beloved people.

For this series, we pause together to focus on how the mysteries of Advent touch our lives for the purpose of awakening, fostering, and strengthening our hope.

Session I: No One Knows You Like Your Mother: Living with the Blessed Mother in Daily Life. What does Mary mean to you? What do you mean to her? This evening we will spend time reflecting on our relationship to the Blessed Mother and meaningful, practical ways to strengthen it.

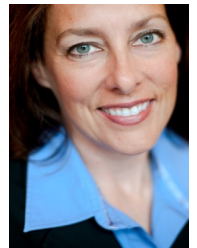

Session II: Be it Done Unto Me: What Mary and the Annunciation Teach us about a Receptive Heart. Cultivating a heart that is willing and ready to receive the graces of heaven can be a difficult task. Do you find yourself too focused on giving gifts and forget to receive them sometimes? The Annunciation is one of heaven's perfect examples of receptivity. Tonight we will enter into that sacred moment that changed all of human history and ask the Blessed Mother to show us how to become more receptive to Jesus.

Session III: Mary, Model of Hope. Fr. Steven explores how, with prayer, in hope, and with Mary as our model of faith, we can draw ever closer to God through Jesus Christ in special ways this season.

Elizabeth Kelly is an award-winning speaker and the author of five books, including, "Reasons I Love Being Catholic." She is trained as a spiritual director in the Ignatian exercises and leads retreats with a particular focus on helping women to flourish in their faith. She teaches in Catholic Studies at the University of St. Thomas, Minnesota. Her website is: www.emkbooks.com.

Fr. Steven Hoffman is pastor at St. Peter's parish and lectures, leads retreats, and serves as spiritual director throughout Minnesota. Prior to his ordination in 2007, he served for 6 years in Laredo, Texas with the French Dominicans where his main ministries included offering retreats, campus ministry to college students, adult and youth faith formation, fostering family prayer and adoration, and working with the poor.

Vol. 7

November 21-22, 2015

OVER $986,636 FROM 173 FAMILIES!! LET'S REACH GOAL BY THANKSGIVING! HAVE YOU MADE YOUR PLEDGE?

How Can I Make My Pledge To The Campaign?

We are asking each parishioner to consider making a gift of or $75 a month over a period of three years. This amounts to a little over $3 a day. We realize that not everyone can make the same size gift, but everyone can make the same size sacrifice. Pledges and gifts in all amounts are gratefully accepted. Together we can continue the best and reach our goal.

- You may fill out a blank pledge card in the pew and place it in the offertory basket.
- If you happen to be driving or walking by the church you can drop off your pledge card in the parish office.
- A volunteer may contact you with additional information regarding the campaign or you can leave your pledge card with a campaign volunteer located in the main entrance of the church.
- If you take a pledge card home you may also mail your pledge card to the parish office using the envelope provided.
- You may also call the parish office at (651) 452-4550 with any additional questions regarding the campaign.
